

THE PEDAGOGY OF

PRIVILEGE

Teaching, Learning, & Praxis

CALL FOR PAPERS, PRESENTATIONS, & WORKSHOPS

June 1 & 2, 2009

Craig Hall, Graduate School of Social Work,
University of Denver, Denver, Colorado

The conference organizing committee for the Pedagogy of Privilege: Teaching, Learning, & Praxis conference invites proposals for papers, presentations, and workshops for the 2009 conference. All proposed papers, presentations, and workshops should address the issue of privilege from the aspect of teaching, learning, or practice (defined broadly), and how privilege impacts these aspects of education, community services, community organizing and/or social justice work. Workshops may focus on specific types of privilege (male privilege, white privilege, heterosexual privilege, middle/upper class privilege, Christian privilege, U.S.American privilege, citizenship privilege, able-bodied privilege, cisgender privilege, etc.), the intersection of two or more types of privilege, or about the dynamics of privilege in general.

In general, breakout sessions will be 90 minutes long. On rare occasion, the conference organizing committee may consider an exceptional workshop spanning two breakout sessions. Academic and scholarly paper presentations typically should be no longer than 15-20 minutes in length, and will be grouped with other paper presentations based on similarity of theme. (Only a brief abstract needs to be submitted in response to this Call for Papers.) All types of sessions will allow for time at the end of the session for questions and dialogue with the audience.

In order for your paper, presentation, or workshop to be considered, the attachments included with this document must be completed and submitted with the proposal. No workshop will be considered without all of the requested information. All workshop proposals and attachments must be submitted by the Monday, March 2nd, 2009, 5:00 p.m. (MST) deadline. Proposals and accompanying documents should be emailed to privilege.conference@du.edu. Include your last name and the event name (ex: Jones – Pedagogy of Privilege). Only those proposals submitted via email will be considered.

Please use the following outline to submit your workshop proposal. No workshop will be considered without all of the requested information.

PRESENTER INFORMATION

Pedagogy of Privilege: Teaching, Learning, & Praxis

The following information is offered to help you make a decision about submitting a paper, presentation or workshop for consideration:

1. The Pedagogy of Privilege: Teaching, Learning, & Praxis conference is largely supported by University of Denver and other local area sponsors, as such we do not offer honoraria, travel, per diem or other expenses to individuals selected to present workshops. However, should travel stipend funding become available, presenters who qualify for such funding (live outside of Denver area and meet one or more of the following conditions: (a) student, (b) low-income, (c) live outside the U.S.) are eligible to apply along with all other conference registrants.
2. Presenter must bring their own laptop if presenting a PowerPoint presentation or any other presentation that requires a computer.
3. Presenters are responsible for bringing their own handouts. Thirty copies are recommended.
4. Please be sure your workshop title and description reflect the actual presentation.
5. Breakout rooms accommodate seating for 20-45 participants.
6. We anticipate a wide range of audience members at the conference including researchers/scholars, educators, community activists, social workers and other human service professionals, students, counselors, psychologists, ministers, etc. As such, this solicitation is for a wide range of workshops, papers, and presentations. If you have questions about whether your proposal is appropriate for the conference, please do not hesitate to contact the conference organizing by committee below.
7. REMEMBER: All workshop proposals must be submitted by the March 2nd, 2009 deadline and ALL requested information should accompany the Call for Papers, Presentations, or Workshop proposals. Proposals and accompanying documents should be emailed to privilege.conference@du.edu. Include your last name and the event name (ex: Jones – Pedagogy of Privilege). Email only for consideration.
8. Contact conference organizing chair, N. Eugene Walls, at 303-871-4367 or by email privilege.conference@du.edu should you have any questions.
